

BRIEFLY

College feud flick screens Feb. 15-17

CHAPEL HILL

The Triangle's greatest rivalry heats up again, but this time at Silverspot Cinema at University Place.

Fans can walk the red carpet, mingle with other superfans and area legends at a celebration from 6 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 16, before the film "Duke-Carolina: The Blue Blood Rivalry" shows at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

The film will also be shown Feb. 15 and again Feb. 17 before the big game is screened in the theater at 9:30 p.m.

The feud between the Blue Devils and the Tar Heels basketball teams is called the greatest rivalry in sports. Go behind the scenes to hear from the players, coaches, broadcasters and superfans that pour their hearts and souls into the ultimate clash of basketball titans.

"If you are a fan, this reality/documentary is the most in depth film ever made on the subject," said Hassan Pinto, executive producer of GreatestFan Films. "Enjoy the fun, the fans and our special Blue Blood Rivalry Ale that will be on tap, brewed exclusively for the GreatestFans of the rivalry."

"We are very excited to bring this relevant and spirited film to Chapel Hill," said Randi Emerman, vice president of sales and marketing for Silverspot Cinema. "We will be rolling out the red carpet to the community and fans alike through the showing of the big game on February 17."

Tickets for the film are $14.50 for adults, $11 for seniors and students and $9 for children under 12. Tickets for students with a valid ID are $9 for the later showing.
