NAPLES, Fla. - Wednesday afternoon at Silverspot at Mercato was hot.

How hot was it?

Stripper flick “Magic Mike XXL” — a sequel that promised more magic and more Mike than 2012’s “Magic Mike” — hosted sold-out screenings at 7, 7:15, 9:30 and 9:45 p.m. There were drink specials (a Beefcake Martini, anyone?) and free posters from radio station B103.9.

And there were firemen — firemen so hot that Mother Nature herself had to call in the storms to cool things off.
