Go pink, see 'Mamma Mia!'

Love the movie "Mamma Mia! Here We Go Again"?

How about belt-ing out Cher and/or Abba songs without a care in the world?

What about an evening that includes both while helping support breast cancer awareness at the same time?

Then head over to the Mizner Park Amphitheater for a free screening of the hit movie and the "Cher-aoke" contest where attendees are encouraged to sing their favorite Cher or ABBA songs to qualify for a drawing to win free tickets to the Jan. 19 Cher concert at the BB&T Center.

The film and contest are part of Mizner Park's "Paint the Park Pink" theme for the month of October, which recognizes Breast Cancer Awareness Month and raises money for breast cancer programs and services at Boca Raton Regional Hospital.

So warm up those pipes — and whether it's "Fernando," "Dancing Queen," "Take a Chance on Me," or "Strong Enough" — have a great time, watch an excellent movie and support a good cause.

When: 7 tonight
Where: 590 Plaza Real, Boca Raton
Cost: Free; chair rental $5.
